A stylized, abstract illustration of a landscape. The background is a light blue sky with several small black dots scattered across it. In the foreground, there are rolling hills and mountains. The central mountain is a large, rounded shape with a yellow top and an orange body. To its left, a white, cloud-like shape partially obscures the edge. Below the central mountain, there are green hills and a blue area that could represent water or a path. The overall style is flat and graphic, with a limited color palette of blue, yellow, orange, green, and white.
